Combining science with Nature

Nanoskin®

Advances in cell biology and immunology firmly establish that populations of cells exist in humans that can be recruited to proliferate and differentiate for repair of damaged or diseased tissues.

- ACT Combined the concepts of medical grade ingredients and natural extracts, leading scientists from the fields of cellular and molecular biology, chemistry, and biophysics to further understand and research skin aging, skin types, and skin condition.

NANOSKIN products restore Biological Information Communication processes to their optimal state, which translates into younger and healthy looking skin.

- NANOSKIN system prevents premature aging; maintains the skin elasticity and firmness; energizes and nourishes the skin; helps reduce capillary permeability; and supports oxygen utilization in the skin.

NANOSKIN Nanotechnological approach in skincare is based, on a use of combination of biologically active substances: construction and successful imitation of bio-nutrients that exist in the Living Organisms.

NANOSKIN uses only pure natural ingredients (NANOSKIN COMPLEXES) that provide with proven, effective and consistent results.

The NANOSKIN COMPLEXES enables the dysfunctional system to regenerate itself through the self-healing processes. This is the gentlest, most harmonious and natural way to correct skin

NANOSKIN products restore cellular communication processes to their optimal state, which translates into younger-looking and healthier skin and reactivate dormant sebaceous glands typical for aging and dry skin. It stimulates the production of sebum, a fatty natural lubricant that leaves skin moist and lustrous.

NANOSKIN RESEARCH developed new scientific concept of biochemical substances that control the restoration of malfunctioning cells. NANOSKIN Complexes placed into a cosmetic base makes a final topical product to improve the way our skin looks and feels and restore communication within and between human skin cells. As soon as NANOSKIN touches the superficial layer of skin cells, it begins to work itself inward, carrying with it the active ingredients, they are released and get absorbed by skin cells. The result is fresh, soft, and healthy looking skin.
